Newtown Savings Bank Elects Four New Corporators

NEWTOWN, CT – Newtown Savings Bank elects four new corporators at its annual meeting held at the Waterview in Monroe on Tuesday, April 30.

David J. Cappiello

David J. Cappiello is the President of Capitol Hill Group, a prominent Government Relations Lobbying firm that he established in 2016. With an extensive background in government and community service, his career spans various influential roles, including serving in the Danbury City Council, the Connecticut House of Representatives, and the State Senate. His remarkable commitment to community involvement is evidenced by his leadership roles in esteemed organizations such as Immaculate High School, Ability Beyond, Center for Empowerment and Education, and Foundations in Education. Cappiello earned a B.S. in Justice and Law Administration from Western Connecticut State University.

Jennifer Curran

Jennifer Curran is a second-generation owner of Johnson Stevens Curran Insurance Agency, having joined the family-run business in 2007. Before transitioning to insurance, she spent five years coaching college basketball at both the University of New Haven and Sacred Heart University. Curran is actively involved in the community, currently serving on the Danbury Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors. She is a graduate of Danbury High School and earned a Bachelor of Arts degree from Brandeis University.

Ross Rizzo

Ross Rizzo is the President and COO of the NY-CONN Corporation, a leading electrical construction company serving Connecticut and New York. He is also a managing partner at JAR Associates, a prominent property developer in Danbury, contributing to the city's growth and business opportunities. A proud member of the community, Rizzo and his family support many local organizations and educational institutions. Recognized for his outstanding contributions, Rizzo has been honored with awards such as induction into the Henry Abbott Technical High School Hall of Fame, as well as the Immaculate High School Distinguished Service Award. His dedication to improving his community and supporting local organizations is a testament to his leadership and values.

Anthony Stewart

Anthony Stewart is a seasoned Real Estate developer and construction manager, boasting a comprehensive educational background from Howard University and Albertus Magnus College, including a Business Management degree. With a solid foundation in public works, he has successfully completed masonry on numerous major projects, including Hudson Yards, East Side Access Project, and the South Beach Psychiatric Hospital. His portfolio also includes the construction of both public schools and libraries demonstrating his commitment to community
