Newtown Savings Bank Employees Spend a Day Working at Massaro Farm

Employees of Newtown Savings Bank left their branches for the barn and headed to Massaro Farm in Woodbridge, CT for team building and community service. The group enjoyed connecting with the community and working together to assist the farmhands.

The group was tasked with everything from weeding to field work to trail maintenance. In providing a little extra assistance, Newtown Savings Bank employees helped lighten the load for this nonprofit organization.

“We encourage our employees to get out of the office and support local nonprofits. It’s even better when they are able to do this as a team bonding activity,” said Tony Giobbi, Chief Banking Officer at Newtown Savings Bank. “Our support of the community is a critical part of our reason for being. We will always emphasize this with our employees.”

Newtown Savings Bank employees logged over 4,451 volunteer hours this past year and continue to look for opportunities to serve the community. If you know of a nonprofit in need of volunteer assistance, please email community@nsbonline.com.
