

Thank you to the hardworking essential workers and volunteers that are showing up every day to help keep us safe, healthy and provide the resources that we need! Thank you, as well, to our customers and employees for their tremendous effort and cooperation. We are proud to be a part of our communities and are here for you always, especially during this time.

Useful Information

Stay up to date. Visit our Coronavirus page for important information about the Federal Economic Impact Payments, along with updates and helpful links for small business and mortgage customers. Follow us on Facebook or LinkedIn for continual updates.

Focus on staying healthy and strong. Eat a healthy diet, drink lots of water, get plenty of rest and look for ways to bring fitness into your home. Suggestions from the World Health Organization include taking short active breaks, walking outside while maintaining proper social distancing, practicing meditation and deep breathing or following an online exercise class.

April is Financial Literacy Month and is the perfect time to brush up on your financial knowledge! Our Financial Education Center is an interactive tool with a collection of online learning modules that cover topics such as managing your money, mortgages, credit, retirement planning and more.

Ways To Help

There are many ways to help each other during this period of uncertainty.

Donate Blood. The American Red Cross has expressed an urgent need for donations. For blood drives in your area please visit RedCrossBlood.org.

Volunteer or Contribute. Many of our neighbors and local charities are in need of assistance and supplies. Visit our Resources page for opportunities.

Protect Yourself from Fraud

Online scams and fraudulent activities are on the rise. Cyber criminals try to take advantage of fears by setting up websites to sell bogus products, and using fake emails, texts, and social media as a ruse to obtain your personal information and take your money. Read the Federal Trade Commission's article about Coronavirus Scammers and learn more about protecting yourself on our Security and Privacy page.

While these are unprecedented circumstances, over time the financial markets have demonstrated a remarkable ability to anticipate a better tomorrow even when today's news feels so bad. The speed and severity of this COVID-19 outbreak, combined with the massive behavioral and economic consequences, will test not just the markets' resolve but ours as well. Times like these are not a time to panic, but a time to reassess your asset allocation, goals and risk tolerance. If you have questions or concerns, the Newtown Investment Solutions team is here to help.

How to Handle Market Declines is an article that you may find useful during these times.
